SATURDAY, : : : : : OCTOBER 19, 1867

THE hight of impudence has been attained by the Missouri Democrat. It outradicals Radicalism itself. It ignores altogether the condition of the white people of the South, whom the Radical majority in Congress is bending every energy to place under the heels of negro leaguers. Its superellious sneers and attempts at sarcasm come with an ill grace from a paper which claims the title of Democrat, but is in fact the sworn foe of all that is democratic, and the advocate of all that is rascally in government. Hear it:

"Negro States!" We cannot understand it! More than half the people of the South are whites. They have intelligence, education, the habit of political management, and the prestige of mastery. In a word, they are the superior race, are they not? Then how on earth can it happen that a minority of blacks, mere chattels, ignorant, brutish, just emancipated from absolute bondage, utterly without political knowledge or experience, can get the upper hand, and become masters of the ten organizing States? Was ever miracle stranger?

It is brave, it is magnanimous, to strike an adversary, or taunt him, when he is in chains, or incapable of defending himself! The Democrat editor seems to be fully aware of the fact, and to have been taught the lessons of chivalry! We can tell him "how on earth a minority of blacks, with all their ignorance and inexperience, can get the upper hand and become masters of the ten organizing States." The last election in Tennessee is an illustrious example. By disfranchising four-fifths, or a sufficient number, of the intelligent white citizens by fraud and chicanery and congressional rascality, and vesting the political power in the hands of the few white men who are found mean and base enough to co-operate with and mislead the blacks by every device that the lowest and most abandoned demagogues can employ—men who like the Democrat editor, have lost all recollection of the existence of such a thing as conscience, honor or truth, and laugh in scorn at the bare idea that there are fools left to imagine there ever was, or can be such a thing as patriotism. The white race is "the superior race," although this political harlot does not believe it. With a cold, calculating, mercenary spirit—with the malignant glee of a fiend, he contemplates the ruin and destruction of all that is beautiful in government—to see fetters thrown around the limbs of his countrymen, and their voices stifled, that bad men may have place and wicked men may rule. "It is a knavish piece of work," and well he acts his part. Pursuing the same strain of irony, this same puissant Democrat (!!) sneeringly says:

White immigration will pour in, while no immigration will increase the strength of the blacks. Whites own the land; whites do the business; whites organize immigration societies, and in a thousand ways can control the future population of the State. And yet, we are told, the blacks will be masters!

Of course white immigration will "pour in," if the white people of "the ten States" are left to regulate their own domestic affairs, which was guaranteed by the Constitution which the vandal Radicals would tear in shreds and scatter to the winds, but which even their fathers revered as handed down by the patriots who framed it. "Whites own the land!" Yes, they do "own the land," although the Radicals have made the poor, ignorant, infatuated, deluded negroes believe that the tables will be turned, and that they will become the "masters." Before that period shall arrive, the last Radical will pray for earth to rise and cover him from the indignant face of day. Not all the frenzy of alarmed and irritated and angered Radical leaders and Radical followers, who laugh when they smile, and howl with the inspiration of vengeance when they frown, can accomplish that fiendish purpose. The next Congress may attempt its work in the short time it has to play the devil in, but the shackles it may attempt to fasten upon free, untethered limbs, will fall as if thrown off by the thews and sinews of a giant. Yes, they do "own the land," and they will own it. Congress may attempt to intimidate by bayonets, as it has done—it may send its murderous missions from their dark holes, (as BROWNLOW has done in this State,) to browbeat, rob and slay, innocent and peaceful citizens, whose sole offense is that they cannot forget they are men, free to think at least, if not free to act, but an avenging God will not permit such sacrifice. The patriots of Ohio and Pennsylvania and Kentucky and Maryland, of Connecticut, of Indiana, of Iowa—of the whole land—will not tolerate such desecration. In vain may the false Prophet cry out "Union and the Constitution." We have no Union; we have no Constitution. The Radicals have deprived us of both. They would drive us to despair, but they cannot. Taxed without representation; a burden put upon our industry; military satraps placed over us; threatened with worse appliances than any heretofore encountered; confiscation and "chimeras dire" held in terrorem over our devoted heads; stripped of all means of defense save the vigor and arms that God has given us; yet, thank that Heavenly Father, our hearts are yet free, and yield homage to none save Him. No more can that vast army which sent such pallor into the Radical cheeks, and made their hearts "sag with fear," be deceived with an appeal to "save the Union" for Radical rule. The hand of the wretched gamester has been disclosed and the miserable cheat detected. He will not be permitted again to stock the cards. The brave Democracy will not form column after column of bristling bayonets, that every vestige of the Constitution may be rendered worthless, and that negro equality, if not negro supremacy, may be enforced, and intelligence and virtue and patriotism may be dragged in the dust. We say beware! The writing is on the wall. Mene, mene tekel upharsin.

THOS. K., brother of HENRY WARD BEECHER, and a much better man, was, a short time since, anxious to know if NATHAN T. CONDOL, a negro, had demeaned himself properly since he had been at Aberdeen, Mississippi. He sent CONDOL to be a teacher among the colored people, and writes thus despondingly:

By his own letters, and by letters also from others, not his friends, I am led to fear that he is no longer behaving himself as he should. We desire that he should live among your free people, as their friend and teacher, and not as their champion, leader, or political adviser. We wish him to be quiet, temperate, modest, respectful, in a word, Christian.

Upon this the Examiner has a commentary, from which we make a brief extract:

He is a man capable of imparting education, and while he bent his energies to the accomplishment of this purpose, he succeeded in advancing the freed children rapidly in the elements of English education, and we supported him and frequently asked for him the approving smile of the community; and know that our people, as a unit, rejoiced at his success and the progress of his pupils.

Well, there came a change o'er the nature of this man Condol's dream. The villainous Military bill "became a law," and with his natural keenness, he peered through its mazes—like Woodmansee, the Register, is doing now—in search of place, like a hyena through the night in search of carrion. Inspired with that demoniac lust for office which has tempted and ruined better men than either of the former, he forgot the instructions given by the good priest who sent him hither to our "freed people, as their friend and teacher;" and in a spirit of selfish thirst for aggrandizement, sought to be "their champion, leader, and political adviser."

Descending from the lofty pedestal of the teacher, he became a contemptible demagogue, and sought to use the power gained over his more ignorant fellow freedmen, for the base purpose of elevating himself; even though knowing full well, that if he rose to petty place upon their shoulders, it would only be that they should be trampled into the dust.

And this is but a picture of the race, from FRED. DOUGLASS down to TOLLES! They only crave office, like those who affiliate with them, and care less for their own, or the advancement of their fellows, than any other people bronzed by the sun. Mr. BEECHER had a proper feeling of interest for the future of CONDOL. We can condole with him in his disappointment. He learns, though late in the day it be, that a silk purse cannot by any ingenuity be wrought out of a sow's ear.

As to railroads, Memphis can afford to wait awhile now. With the Memphis and Ohio sold out to Louisville, we should take stock in no more, unless they are designed to open a new Southern trade, and even then we ought to have the strongest possible assurances that it shall never be sold out to defeat the very objects it was designed to foster and sustain.—Bulletin.

"Still harping on my daughter!" No, Memphis cannot "afford to wait awhile now," any longer than she will by the force of circumstances and the impracticability of securing the means, to complete the contemplated railroads, be compelled to wait. Other cities are bending every energy to extend their railroad facilities, and to be supine, or indifferent, were to give up the contest and acknowledge our city hors de combat. Like the child that threw away its bread and butter in the pouts, because it thought a larger slice or more butter was given to its little sister, the Bulletin in its implacable grief that the dumpy gentleman of ambrosial locks and the "lad of Kilkenny" could not secure the operating—and management of the "Memphis and Ohio," thinks it useless to have any more railroads, "unless they are designed to open a new Southern trade." What "new Southern trade?" And then, too, it must never be "sould out." That sore defeat, when success was so confidently anticipated! Will it never come day? It is amusing to listen to the sobs of the disappointed baby, that whines because it can, and not because it has received any bodily hurt.

Our worthy Governor is anxious to fill every office that Andrew Johnson was ever honored with, but it remains to be seen whether time and opportunity will be spared him, in this world, for the attainment of his wishes in that respect.—Bulletin.

"Our worthy Governor!" Is not that rich?

"How like a fawning publican he looks!"

Why not our un-worthy Governor? Of one thing there is a certainty; if he cannot fill those offices "in this world," he will have a poor show in the next, for his Satanic majesty is exceedingly impatient to welcome his dearly beloved and most highly esteemed brother; nor will he let him wander back to earth again.

The Government steamboat commission is in session in New York. It will investigate the Vanderbilt and Dean Richmond collision.

A hack driver named Pat Hunter, at St. Louis, known as a "Scalper," took laudnaum, on the evening of the 15th, and "shuffled off this mortal coil."

Upon a close examination it has been ascertained that there are 379 stationary steam boilers in the city of St. Louis. There are sixty in the Belcher sugar refinery.

The President has appointed J. Brooks, of the New York Express, and James McKee, of Pennsylvania, Government directors of the Union Pacific railroad, thus completing the list of five required by law.

A drover named Charles L. Raymond, of Adams county, Illinois, taking with him $3,012, and visiting the suburbs of the city of St. Louis to purchase hogs, was drugged and robbed of his money on Wednesday.

The punishment of one Major George Pierce, of the Twenty-ninth United States cavalry, says the Louisville Courier, for ordering the destruction of the Constitution and Eagle newspaper, at Camden, Arkansas, because of its publishing an article he did not like, is an encouraging sign of the times. For this offense he was tried by a court martial, and sentenced to forfeit his pay for one year, degraded to the rank of a Captain, and reprimanded in general orders. The sentence has been approved by General Grant and the President. We trust the circumstance will have a beneficial effect upon that class of army officers who would like to exercise in time of peace the arbitrary authority sometimes entrusted to them during the war. The liberty of the press must be guarded as something sacred, if we are to have a republican government. Pierce, no doubt, will be honored as a martyr by the Radical party.

Peter Chrisman, was condemned at St. Louis, on the 15th, to be hanged on the 6th of December, for the murder of Edward Ross and his son, in Columbia bottom, in May last. Judge Primm, in his sentence, thus stated the particulars:

The prisoner is twenty years of age, of athletic frame, and has all the appearance of having constantly enjoyed robust health. There is nothing about him to denote insanity in any form. In the month of May of the present year he killed Edward Ross and his infant boy whilst they were asleep, the child reposing on his father's arm. The instrument of death was an ax, with which he brained them both. After the homicide, the prisoner ransacked Ross' premises, took his trunk, clothing, wagon and horses, and made his escape. Some time after he was arrested as the perpetrator of the deed, and being charged with the commission, clearly and explicitly avoyed it.

The St. Louis Democrat thus describes the murderer:

During the delivery of the sentence the boy-murderer manifested not a particle of feeling, but was as stolid as a block of wood. He stood in front of the bar with both hands leaning upon the railing, and holding a dilapidated straw hat under his fingers. He rested upon his right leg, with the heel of his left shoe upon the toe of his right, and did not move out of this posture until led away by the Marshal. His hair was close cut; he wore a dingy brown box coat, a pair of yellow jeans pants, rolled up at the bottoms, and a pair of old brogans, run down at the heels. He was chewing tobacco the whole time, and appeared more intent upon masticating his cud than listening to the sentence, and he bent his head frequently to eject the saliva from his mouth. His eyes were fixed upon the judge, but there was no expression in them, and his countenance never changed in the slightest degree.

WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, October 18.

Official accounts from Crete to September 26th confirm the private advices of the resumption of hostilities against the Turks.

Colonel Woods, chief of the secret service of the Division Treasury Department, has had all the detectives at work to discover the counterfeiters of seven-thirty notes. It is definitely ascertained that over one thousand have been put upon the market, and the plates were not made in Europe but in this country. It is further stated that Philadelphia has been the headquarters for printing them. A clue to the whole proceeding is said to be in possession of the secret service officers. According to representations one of the gang of counterfeiters, named Cooper, now under arrest, had been so successful with his 7-30s that he forgot his discretion, and commenced putting into circulation tens and twenties, bank notes.

The following letter was made public to-day:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, OFFICE CONTROLLER OF CURRENCY.—WASHINGTON, October 18, 1867.—Dear Sir: Your letter of the 15th instant has been received, inquiring what portion of the three per cent. certificates are available as reserve for National Bank. The act of March, 1867, authorizing the issue of the three per cent. certificates, and their use as a part of the reserve of National Banks, provides that not less than two-fifths of the entire reserve of such banks shall consist of lawful money of the United States. The country banks are required to have a reserve of fifteen per cent. of the amount in circulation and deposit, two-fifths of which must be in lawful money, and the three per cent. certificates, or in cash deposits with the redemption agent selected by the bank. The banks of Boston, and of the other cities designated in section thirty-one of the national currency act, are required to have a reserve of twenty-five per cent. of their circulation and deposits, two-fifths of which must be of lawful money, and three-fifths of which may be in these certificates, or, if preferred, one-half of this reserve may be in cash deposited with the redemption agent in New York—two-fifths in lawful money, and the remaining one-tenth in the three per centum certificates.

I am, very respectfully, J. J. KNOTT,
Deputy and Acting Controller.

Wm. Murphy, confined in the Missouri penitentiary for the last two years, under sentence, by a Military Commission, for boat burning on the Mississippi river during the war, was brought before the United States Circuit Court, on Wednesday, and the case argued on application for discharge. Judge Miller decided the case to-day by discharging the prisoner, on the ground of the unconstitutionality of the tribunal by which Murphy was tried and sentenced. The Judge also decided that the prisoner occupied the same position now as though he had not been tried and sentenced by a military tribunal, and could be arraigned and tried upon the charge by the civil courts. On motion of the District Attorney, the prisoner was remanded to confinement until to-morrow, to allow an opportunity to renew all charges, or prefer new ones if any existed.

LONDON, October 18.

At a dinner at Winchester, last evening, given to the Derby Ministry, Earl Derby defended the action of the Government on the reform question, and replied to some of the attacks on the Reform bill made by Lord Stanley. He alluded to the disturbed condition of foreign affairs, and entertained hopes that peace would be preserved. In reviewing the present relation of Great Britain with foreign powers, he alluded to the controversy with the United States in regard to the claims for indemnity. This controversy, he said, still remained open, but England had all along dealt with America in a friendly temper, but time was all ready soothing any irritation which might have arisen on either side of the Atlantic.

MARRIED.

At St. Lazarus church, on Thursday evening, October 17, at 8 o'clock, by Dr. John T. Wheat, Mr. R. T. POSTLOCK and Miss NELLIE W. WALKER, daughter of Hon. Sam. F. Walker.

When Valor and Beauty are conjoined, it only ratifies what Walter Scott once truly said:

"Love rules the camp, the court, the grove,
For love is heaven, and heaven is love."

The happy knight whose devoir in the lists of love has thus been crowned by the Queen of Beauty, may proudly wear the honors he has won. On many a battle plain he has deftly borne his trusty blade, and met the foeman with undaunted mien, but the arrows of a pair of bright eyes sought not in vain to pierce that where the enemy vainly sought to find. Bound captive by a liken meshes, stronger than links of steel, may they be always as easily worn as now—lightly, yet a still sure badge of captivity—

"Nothing shall assuage your love
But ring rings; for thumb in Thy tying of two hearts in wedlock as is
The burning of two torches into one fire;
Striking the strings of the other, and
Upon the strings of the other; and in
Two minds linked in love, one cannot be Delighted, but the other rejoiceth."

After the beautiful and impressive ceremony had been pronounced, and the congratulations that will otherwise on such solemn occasions, even within cathedral aisles, the company attending the "happy pair" repaired to the hospitable mansion of the bride's father and partook of a most inviting banquet, "passing the happy hours away" with lively sallies and inspiring wishes, until those ominations that ladies hair before upon their loved friends bent on separation announced "the hour of retiring." Let their honeymoon be but the beginning of a never waning life of unmixed happiness.

"Happy, happy, happy pair!
None but the brave, none on the brave,
None but the brave deserve the fair."

THE DISCOVERY OF THE AGE

NO material which has ever been discovered has effected greater benefits in the household economy than

McGILMERY'S MAGIC SOAP.

Its peculiar action in curing invariably all cutaneous eruptions of the skin and pimples, scald heads, eruptions of the skin and piles, dandruff is removed from the head, the tenderest and delicate skin and jewelry made beautiful. Stains are totally removed from carpets, furniture, clothes, paint, varnish or marble with the greatest facility and without injury to the material. It is a great saving of time and labor in washing clothes. It is the only known soap which will wash flannels with the same or cotton or linen without fulling or shrinking. All these important objects can be effected without injury to the skin or the most delicate fabric. It is a luxury for the toilet, and for shaving. The world is challenged to produce a soap which will compare with it for many valuable qualities. It is so innocuous and safe. It is a home invention, as celebrated as a household word all over the world. It has been in use nearly in Memphis, and its use is rapidly spreading throughout the south, and eventually will extend over the whole of North and South America, Europe, Asia, Africa and Oceanica. Manufactured only by C. D. MCGILMERY, Memphis, Tenn., and can soon be found at any respectable grocery, druggist or drug store. The proprietor is determined that in manufacturing Magic Soap the high reputation which the liberally extended patronage of the public has given it shall be fully sustained.

OFFICE SECRETARY BOARD OF HEALTH, October 18, 1867.—Interments from yellow fever for twenty-four hours, ending at five p.m., three.

W. E. ROGERS, M. D.,
Secretary Board of Health.

ARRIVED.—That charming and lovely young actress and vocalist, Miss Emilie Melville, has arrived, and is at the Overton. She commences an engagement at the New Memphis on Monday evening.

Some of the nurses sent for by the Howard Association to attend the sick here have arrived. We are informed that they are confident some of the cases they examined were another, and not yellow fever.

DEATH OF HON. THOS. G. SMITH.—We are pained to learn that Hon. Thos. G. Smith, Judge of the Common Law Court in this city, died near Bell's Depot, on the Memphis and Ohio railroad, yesterday evening.

MISSING IVORY.—Esquire Black, on the complaint of John Covington, a negro, issued a warrant yesterday against the mate of the Re vena for striking the aforesaid John and knocking out a row of ivory.

We published yesterday the announcement of the appointment by Judge Trigg of Mr. Wm. Y. Cirode as assignee in bankruptcy. The appointment will be most acceptable, as Mr. Cirode has all the necessary qualifications, and is a thorough business man and courteous gentleman.

NO MORE PANIC.—The proceedings of the Howard Association should allay all excitement among our citizens, if any yet prevail, as to the increase of sickness in the city. The nurses sent for are arriving, and there will be no more cases without special care and attention of the experienced.

BANKRUPTCY.—The communication of Mr. Mitchell, clerk of the United States District Court, which will be found in another column, will allay any apprehension which may have been entertained by those who desire to strike even with the world and begin again.

STEALING HOGS.—Joe Carter, a negro, had a great fancy for Carter's pigs, somewhere out in the sixth civil district. It was not civil in Joe, and he was overhauled. Brought before Esquire Black, he was fully committed to answer for the offense.

HOUSE ROBBERY.—The house of W. D. Baird, No. 99 Market street, was entered early yesterday morning, and a lot of groceries and two demijohns of liquor stolen. Two negroes, who had been piling up wood the evening before, were suspected of the offense, and probably will have an opportunity of a hearing.

THE JAPANESE give their last performances this afternoon, at two o'clock, and this evening, at the Greenlaw Opera House. Those who have not seen their truly wonderful feats will have only these opportunities. To see the people and their costumes is of itself a novelty.

STEALING INK.—Ed. Howard and Jim McClure, arrested by officer Scott for rolling away two barrels of ink from the store of R. Babb, on Front street, were brought before Squire Miller yesterday, and after a hearing, sent up for trial.

WAGGONER & Co.—The large and elegant establishment of Messrs Waggoner & Co., clothiers and merchant tailors, in Clark's marble block, is receiving extensive additions to their superb stock. Major Reddick and Phipps Miller are the courteous clerks.

NEW BILLIARD SALOON.—Mr. McKeogh, late of the El Dorado, has superbly fitted up the Gulliman hall for a billiard saloon, which he calls "The Donegana," on the corner of Second and Madison streets. The place is to be inaugurated this evening by a match game of 500 points, between the two best billiard players in Memphis.

NEW MEMPHIS THEATRE.—"Casio" was admirably played last night, to a good and fashionable house, for Lady Don's benefit. She was twice applauded to repetition in song and act, and at the fall of the curtain was called out and gracefully acknowledged the compliment. The sparkling comedy, that savors much of Dickens' humor and life painting, will be repeated this evening, closing Lady Don's engagement.

SHOOTING.—At the notorious bagnio of Mag. Moody, in the rear of the Varieties on Washington street block, in which officer Welsh had a narrow escape. Hearing a shot inside the house, the door being closed, he demanded admittance, and a shot came through the door, narrowly missing him. Forcing the door, he arrested a man named Wm. Van Wert, who had shot at a man calling himself Jim Doyle, who made his escape through a back window. Van Wert had a navy six, two or three barrels of which had been discharged. We presume there will be a hearing this morning. This notorious den should be abated as a nuisance.

TEMPORARY CHANGE OF BASE.—The complete suspension of business here and elsewhere, unavoidable and continuous for the past five weeks and the prevalence of alleged epidemics as distressitive to business as those of cholera and yellow fever raged in the city and country compel the removal of the Southern Asylum Agency to Hernando, to which place the business managers of the institution have temporarily transferred their families. The drawings announced for the 21st are postponed for a short time, until the managers and directors of the company, scattered by the supposed epidemics, can be assembled.

Emmons & Son, Nos. 10 Jefferson street and 293 Main street, have received the New York Clipper, Irish American, Irish People, Turf, Field and Farm, Oriental Zeitung, Metropolitan Record, Freeman's Journal, New York Ledger, Chimney Corner, Literary Album, Boston Pilot, back numbers of the New York Weekly, London Society, Littell's Living Age, Godey's Lady's Book, Frank Leslie's Magazine and Nix Nax for November; also writing paper, envelops, and blank books of all kinds.

Ed. Worsham, 22 Jefferson street, AVALANCHE building, received, by last night's mail, Chimney Corner, Literary Album, Harper's Weekly, Metropolitan Record, New York Clipper, Sporting Times, LaCrosse Democrat, Boston Pilot, Banner of Light, Field, Turf and Farm, Freeman's Journal, Irish American, Irish People, Saturday Night, New York Ledger, Nicknax, and Merryman's for November, Frank Leslie's, Godey's and Demorest's Fashion Books for November, London Art Journal for October, which Ed. sells for $1 25. Go to Colonel Ed. to get your reading matter and stationery.

CONSTITUTIONAL EAGLE.—We have received a slip from Messrs. Hobson & Elmendorf, announcing that they will resume the publication of the Camden (Ark.) Constitutional Eagle, which was "cleaned out" by the United States soldiers on the 8th of August last, for which the officer commanding the expedition was himself cleaned out. The paper will appear on the 1st of November. Those desiring to advertise should send their favors early. We wish the proprietors all the success they so richly deserve as fearless and independent journalists.

A NOISY DRUNK.—About dark, last evening, the whole square, near the postoffice, was made resonant by the appeals of a customer whom the police were taking to the station house, followed by a cortege of men and boys, some of whom afterward have been locked up to satisfy their morbid curiosity. The inebriate appealed directly to heaven to know if he would be permitted to go to that place, where some better and some worse had gone before him. Heaven consented, for he was admitted and furnished with a blanket and "the softest plank on the floor."

PHOTOGRAPHING.—It is some time since we noticed the popular photograph gallery of Messrs. T. E Hanbury & Bro., near the corner of south Court street, on Main. Our last visit was to see the splendid portraits of Mr. and Mrs. Dan. Able and daughter, painted by our lamented friend J. R. Saunders, who has left behind him no equal in his art in Memphis. These pictures, in themselves, are monuments of his high attainments in his beautiful art. At Hanbury's gallery the beautiful reproductive, or porcelain picture, may be had in its perfection. At this time, when the faces of friends and relations are treasures, that cannot be too highly prized, Mr. Hanbury should find he has work to do. His pictures are elegantly finished, and are most true and faithful likenesses.

MISSISSIPPI AND TENNESSEE RAILROAD.—By reference to the advertisement, it will be seen that the time table has been changed on this road. The passenger train will leave the depot at the lower end of Main street, at five p.m., daily, an hour earlier than heretofore, which will be agreeable intelligence to those who travel the road. We believe the change has been made entirely for the accommodation of the public. Those wishing to leave the city in the evening and return in the morning, can purchase commutation tickets for twenty trips to any point, or good for one month, at reduced rates. The efforts of Mr. Livermore to accommodate them is appreciated by the public.

HOWARD ASSOCIATION.—Friday, October 18, the Executive Committee met pursuant to adjournment. It was on motion resolved that members not reporting, after being properly notified, shall be dropped from the roll, unless a satisfactory excuse be rendered.

Resolved, That W. C. McClure, having used indecorous and improper language towards the Sisters of Mercy and the Association, be considered no longer a member thereof.

On motion, Dr. W. S. Tremaine, United States army, was unanimously elected an honorary member of the Association.

The following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, A proposition has been submitted to the Association from some of the prominent business men of the city, with the approval of the Mayor, that we should recommend that the stores and offices be closed during a portion of the business hours, in order that young men may have an opportunity of nursing the sick.

Resolved, unanimously, That with the highest regard for the source from which the suggestion emanates, we feel compelled respectfully to decline to accede to it.

Resolved, That the Howard Association deems it inexpedient to recommend a curtailment of the hours of business, although the fever is in a considerable amount of sickness of various kinds in the city and suburbs, it does not prevail to such an extent as would justify so extreme a measure, which, we would excite alarm and create a panic highly prejudicial to the business interests of the city.

Resolved, That we feel highly encouraged by the liberal response of our business men to our appeals for pecuniary assistance, and earnestly invoke the aid of those who are desirous, and feel competent, to assist in nursing the sick, and we cannot doubt that every facility will be offered those from their employers in their service who may

The Bankrupt Act in Operation.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT CLERK'S
OFFICE, MEMPHIS, October 18, 1867.

To the Editors of the Avalanche: I am almost daily asked the question in the city, and frequently by letter from the country, "When will there be a Register in Bankruptcy appointed for this District?" Of course I cannot give a satisfactory reply, as I cannot know the purpose of the appointing power. But as the question comes, in almost every instance, from persons who intend to avail themselves of the benefit of the Bankrupt Act, and who think their interests are seriously prejudiced by the delay of the appointment of a Register, I think it will be well to disabuse their minds in regard to that matter.

All who desire the relief offered by the Bankrupt law have only to file their petitions in the Clerk's office, and the relief instantaneously comes. From the hour of filing his papers the debtor may commence his new business life, may enter into engagements, earn money, invest it and enjoy it without fear of having the fruits of his new enterprise and labor sought after and seized on account of the old debts that have crushed him; for the Bankrupt act only takes hold of such property and assets as a man has at the time he files his petition and offers to surrender all for the benefit of his creditors. If that surrender be full, honest and complete, as it ought to be, and must be if the applicant expects to obtain certain relief, the creditors get no more. The man's debts are then with the past, the future is all his own; whether there be a Register there or not until six months after.

But there need be no fear of much longer delay of bankrupt adjudications, for I have the authority of Judge Trigg for the assurance that if a Register for this district be not soon obtained, he will either assign a Register from some other district, to dispose of the cases here, or he will hear and adjudicate them himself; and those first filed will be first disposed of.

Petitioners are really, therefore, losing valuable time, and, perhaps, some excellent business opportunities, by delaying to file their paper. Those who intend to do so at all, should file them at once.

Respectfully,
A. S. MITCHELL,
Clerk United States District Court.

SINGULAR FREAK OF A CHILD.—A BOY TRIES TO HANG HIS BROTHER, AND FAILING IN THAT HE HANGS HIMSELF.—The following particulars of a most singular occurrence which took place at 104 Mile Siding, on the Memphis and Charleston railroad, are detailed by a correspondent of an evening cotemporary:

Three children of Mr. Wm. Roberts (a workman at the mill at the siding,) went out to the woods, a few hundred yards from the house, to gather sticks for the fire to cook dinner. They were a little boy of nine years of age, another of seven and a little sister of five. They had with them some small cords or strings plaited from the ravelings of old gunny sacks. The elder boy, it seems, had become by some means possessed of a mania on the subject of hanging, and often spoke (sometimes in a jesting way, and at other times apparently in earnest) to his brother himself, but his parents had no idea that he seriously meditated anything of the kind or would attempt to carry it into effect. While out in the woods on this occasion, he took his smaller brother to a bush not over six feet high, and binding it down required his little sister to hold it bent, while he tied one of the strings before mentioned around his brother's neck and fastened the other end to the top of the bush and then let it go. The bush, however, had not sufficient spring to strangle the little fellow, and only choked him to a slight extent. The elder brother then untied him and took him to a stump which had a projecting limb, and tried hard to hang him to it, but the cord was not long enough to tie around the limb, and he abandoned the attempt.

Having failed to hang his brother, the boy then seems to have determined to hang himself, and climbing up a sapling, about fifteen feet high and about the thickness of a man's arm at the ground, he made a slip-noose with the cord, which he placed around his neck, and tying the other end to the top of the sapling, he jumped from the bush, bending it down with his weight, and being strangled almost instantly by the noose tightening on his neck.

The brother and sister ran to the house and gave the alarm, but when assistance arrived the boy was quite dead. His knees were on the ground, and the cord stretched tight by the spring of the sapling. The small string used had made the work of death sudden and sure.

AN EX-CONFEDERATE.—We call attention to the advertisement of Mr. Davidson, who desires a situation as day or night watchman. He served his country nobly, and bears the badge of his bravery in an armless sleeve. He deserves a reward for his valor far beyond the humble position he seeks, but will be content, and more than content, with that or any other he can fill, by which he can by his own strict attention earn an honorable livelihood. Deprived of an arm, he is disqualified for the struggle with the laborious life, to which otherwise he would be equal. We hope he may be successful in obtaining a place in which he can acquire the means of living comfortably without invading his amour propre. As a brave man, he would rather starve than lose his own self-respect.

THE FIRE yesterday morning consumed a small frame building on the Pigeon Roost road, occupied by Mrs. O'Brien, widow of a deceased policeman. She lost her furniture, and other articles to the value of $700, which she is ill able to lose.

AN INQUEST was held yesterday by Coroner Cotton on the body of a negro named William Harris, formerly a waiter at the Commercial hotel, near the corner of Beale and Orleans streets, who had been suspected of having been poisoned. The verdict was that he came to his death by congestion.

IN PORT.

Steamers Rowena, Dan, Able, Guidon and Victor No. 2.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The levee yesterday presented a dull appearance, with no arrivals up to seven p.m. outside of the local packets.

A movement is on foot at Evansville to extend the Evansville and Cairo packet line to Columbus, Kentucky, and place two boats per week in the Evansville and Memphis trade. By judicious management two good boats could make it pay in the trade.

The second mate of the Rose Hite was arrested at Louisville, on Wednesday, for attempting to shoot Captain Gilmore.

The Rowena, Captain John B. Davis, is the regular Saturday White river United States mail packet, connecting at Duvall's Bluff with the Little Rock railroad for all points on the Arkansas river. The Rowena has superior passenger accommodations, and is in charge of reliable and active officers. Messrs. Kidder, Milt Harry and Mr Sharpe, a trio of gentlemen, noted for their courtesy and uniform kindness, have charge of the office.

Joseph Rutledge, pilot on the steamer Arabian, having tied the boat up for debt, went on board, and was struck in the face by Captain Ci. Demain. The Captain was arrested for exhibiting his sleeve.

The Dan Able, Captain James Lee, is the regular Saturday Vicksburg and bends United States mail packet. She leaves the wharf to-day at five p.m., and will make all way landings. Billie Fields, a gentleman of large caliber, and noted for his courtesy and attention to business, presides at the desk.

Messrs. Kindige & Co., we learn, are about to negotiate for the St. Patrick. If the sale is consumated Captain Tom Berry will take command of her in the Vicksburg trade.

The Victor No. 2 goes to New Orleans to-day.

An exchange says "there are immense numbers of black birds in Iowa and Wisconsin." We don't know how it is in the latter State, but the returns from the election in Iowa rather indicate that they are not near as numerous this year as they were last.

The editors who are out on the Plains are chasing the buffalo. They catch him in a pen, agreeing with the Cardinal on the cardinal point, that the pen is mightier, etc., etc.

The Rose Hamilton and Goldfinch were announced to leave St. Louis yesterday for this port.

The Louisville, bound down, ran into the bank a few miles below Napoleon, on Wednesday night. Her buts were sprung, causing her to ship two feet of water, which damaged a large amount of freight in the hold. The Louisville seems doomed to hard luck this trip. She sunk one of barges above here, and has now damaged half of her remaining cargo.

The Louisiana had also a tough trip, and at last accounts was aground below Vicksburg.

The Right Way, Captain Kouns, leaves to-day at twelve m., for New Orleans.

The Ida Reese, Captain Dickinson, will leave the city wharf boat at five p.m., for Jacksonport and points on White river.

The Mary Forsythe, Captain Thompson, will leave the lower wharf at five p.m., for New Orleans.

The City of Cairo, Captain Bob Reilly, leaves to-day at five p.m. for Cairo and St. Louis.

The Ned Tracy cleared for St. Louis last night with three hundred bales of cotton.

The Rowena, from White river, brought in two hundred and forty bales of cotton.

The Dan. Abie, from Vicksburg, brought up fifty-six bales of cotton.

The Mollie Hambleton will leave Paducah next trips in the St. Francis river trade on Tuesday week.

Our Republican exchanges think the Democrats owe their present success to "fraters." Poor fellows! they are "run ashore" for some excuse for their defeat.

The G A. Thompson, with barges, passed down yesterday.

The Rubicon, from Vicksburg for St. Louis, passed up yesterday morning.

The towboat Bee, with two barges, bound down, is reported aground at Phillips'.

The Gleaner, Captain John Fenwick, will be found at the wharf this morning to receive for Pine Bluff and way points on the Arkansas, and will leave to-day at five p.m. She is A No 1 light draught boat, and in charge of competent and clever officers.

The New Orleans Times, of the 16th says:

The weather yesterday, though chilly in the shade, was delightfully bright and agreeable. The arrivals, though meagre, embraced some of the larger packets—the General Quitman, with 1547 bales of cotton, and Henry Adkins, under 1100 tons of freight. But little business transpired on the landing. The Henry Adkins passed the Louisiana aground at Brainsburg.

Red river is very low at present, and the boats that are at present on their trip up from New Orleans are having a hard time of it. Below we give the memoranda of the Fannie Gilbert, that got in port yesterday. We are sorry to announce the death of Mr. John J. Brower, pilot of the Gilbert, on the down trip, on last Tuesday, the 8th, at ten o'clock a.m. Left Shreveport Monday, 7th instant, at five p.m. Laid up at Gravey's, Tuesday, 8th, laid up at night at Ash Point. Wednesday, 9th, met steamer Cuba No. 2 in Dixie Reach lightering; three feet scant on the bar. We grounded, and pulled two hours. Steamer Flicker laid up at Rose plantation on account of sickness on board. The clerk died on the 7th instant, and as we came down the Captain and several others were reported very ill. Arrived at the bar above Campte at three p.m.; only twenty-three inches water in the channel. We pulled until next morning, seventeen hours. Thursday, 10th, met Boardman's Cuba at Grand Ecore bar. At this point, three and a half feet water. At Tucker's bar we grounded, there being only three feet scant in the channel, and pulled fifteen hours. Friday, 11th, met Rose Franks lightering at O. K. bar, and William Baxter trying to pull over; three feet in the channel. Met Eleanora at M. Ryan's; she broke her steam capstan on the falls, and had a great deal of trouble getting over. Met Loula No. 2 just above the falls; three and half feet water in the channel, laid up at night at Cassandria. Saturday, 12th, met Irene at Grand Point; three feet water at Turnbull's Island. Lakes above Shreveport and Red river all the way down falling, with nineteen inches in the lake to Jefferson. Steamer Fannie Gilbert will leave again for Shreveport and intermediate landings on Saturday, 19th instant, at five p.m.

The Cincinnati Commercial of Thursday says:

The Convention of steamboat masters and owners met at the rooms of the C. C. M. Association yesterday. After organization, the day was occupied in discussing and adopting a new bill regulating navigation on the Western and southern waters, which will be presented to the Secretary of the Treasury for adoption by Congress, it being the object of our steamboat men to frame a law more suitable for Western and Southern rivers than the one now in force, which is also intended to regulate ocean navigation.

THE COTTON TRADE AND FINANCIAL EMBARRASSMENTS IN SOUTH CAROLINA.

From the correspondence of the New York Times.]

CHARLESTON, S. C., Saturday, October 4, 1867.

The cotton is moving in briskly to market, the receipts at this port having already reached a thousand bales in a single day. There are certain apprehensions, however, in the judgment of the great bulk of the crop will be retarded by circumstances of a less transitory character than the farmers of the season. The difficulty experienced by the planters, almost throughout the cotton-growing region, in obtaining the requisite to meet the extensive of transportation and the enormous requirements of the internal revenue law, will undoubtedly place embarrassed holders to inviting the staple into the market. The actual circulation of specie in Charleston is eighteen per cent. per annum, more than four months' service for which the rate of discount in New York, the financial center of the Union. The prime element of this great disparity is to be found in the prevailing lack of confidence in the stability of political affairs, but is also attributable in some degree to the parties here not in the possession of the national currency has been apportioned among the southern people with the Northern States. For instance, the city of Charleston possesses a banking capital of four or five millions of dollars in gold or its equivalent. It is now needed to transact a business of half a million in currency, which cannot be had from the capital of the savings banks that have, so far, be established in this city. In other States the facilities for borrowing money for the purpose of moving the crops have been more liberal. It is stated on reliable authority that the cotton crop now in the interior of Georgia, awaiting shipment, is over 100,000 bales. The total receipts of cotton from the Gulf of Mexico since Sept. 1st, 1867, are 30,000 bales, against 67,000 bales for the same period last year, and the stocks at the ports are at present 80,000 bales, against 38,000 bales at the same time in 1866. It will be noticed that the receipts are falling off very rapidly, while the demand is very liberal, and the exports extensively limited, and yet the stocks is even now but little more than one half the amount on hand a year ago.

LETTER FROM COUSIN NOURMA.

[The following letter is published out of place, as it should have had precedence of the last. Having turned up, however, from its "secret lurking place," we hasten to place it on file with its predecessors. Written before the election, our correspondent made one or two slight mistakes, especially as to the vote of Lancaster county and the shelving of Grant. He is very correct, in the main, in the rest of his speculations and observations.]

LANCASTER, PENN., October 1, 1867.

EDITORS AVALANCHE: This fine old German city is one of the best built and most comfortable inland cities in the North. It is the county seat of a celebrated old Whig district, and at the present time, its county is Radical by five thousand majority, but this horrible feature is redeemed by the city giving several hundred Democratic majority i nevery election. It is also notable for being the residence of ex-President Buchanan and Thad. Stevens. During the past two weeks the latter has been confined to his bed by feebleness, rather than from any special form of disease. His physician is Dr. Henry Carpenter, who ranks amongst the first in his profession in this State. He assures me that Thad. will soon recover from his present indisposition. There is a great deal of devilment planned by Thad. and his satellites, and he will soon be at work operating the machinery to consummate his object. But the Conservative elements are busy and hopeful. The utmost confidence in their success inspires them to battle against the dominion of the Radicals, whose rule has become as despicable and hated as much here as its misrule and tyranny is in the South. The campaign will be made on not only the personal merits, but party popularity of two first class gentlemen, who are competitors for the position of the Supreme Judgeship. On the result depends not only the vitality but the continued existence of the Radical party in this State. It has become despotic and arrogant, and in its vanity and pride of place assumed to dictate Puritanical sumptuary laws to these people, which they do not choose to obey or acknowledge. The temperance plank alone will seriously affect the Radical majorities of last year. Distillers, saloon keepers, confectioners, eating houses, drinking people, and all parties interested in opposition to the temperance law, are operating with money and every other available influence to defeat the party that has interposed this obstacle to their business.

The Conservative candidate for Supreme Judge is George Sharswood, who is recognized by all parties as one of the ablest lawyers, most profound jurists and honest men in the North. During this political campaign, one of the most noable features is in that the opposition press abstains from the blackguardism and disgusting recriminations that have hitherto been used on such occasions in this State. The Republican candidate is Henry W. Williams, against whom the only argument that is heard is that he is a bit hostile to Judge Black. He is an able lawyer, a profound jurist and good man, who, if elected, will not abase his position to gratify the foul purposes of politics. There is little doubt, however, that Judge Sharswood will be elected. The triumph of such a result to the Democracy will tell largely on the next contest for the Presidency.

The Radicals have already nominated Chase for the next Presidency. Neither money nor means that promise any hope of success, will be spared to elect him. I pray had a peep into the inner chambers where the lodges of this Republic are made, and have found that Grant, Sheridan, Wade, Butler, Stevens and the rest of the pack have been shelved. My utterance of this I do not think is a secret; at any rate, I do not break any confidence in telling it. The wise old heads—the Warwicks who decide for the people who shall be their kings, recite but one serious objection to Chase, in that he dragged the ermine of justice into the dirt of politics, and soiled the place made sacred by Marshall, Story, Taney and other great men who ennobled the position. There is an immense modification of sentiment and action already apparent in the conduct of the Radicals in this section. The dominant, frantic fanaticism that was painfully apparent in the party a year ago, has been substituted by a mild form of appeal and promises. Already the more intelligent, as well as many of the thick-headed dupes, have discovered that the Radical hypocrisy and inconsistency are notonly damaging to every interest of the country at large, but, too, that its object is to fasten negro suffrage and equality on the North. This consummation is very horrible to the masses, who have taken the alarm. In this county, which is the stronghold of Radicalism, the home of Robespierre Stevens, the Radicals exhibit the dishonesty of their professions more than anywhere else in the North. The most blatant among them, and the loudest declaimers for negro equality, will not send their children to schools wherein negroes are admitted, nor will they employ negroes unless they can secure their services for less pay than white men work for; yet they are clamorous that negroes in the South shall be made rulers, and be invested with rights and liberties that they do not and would not accord to white men in their own section. Their strange professions are not practiced by themselves. The latest idea that our enemies propose for us of the South is, expatriation. The insane dreamers, who suggest the Utopian scheme, are chiefly persons who never gave a penny's worth of means or measures to the purpose of quelling the rebellion, in only words, only these and nothing more.

Pre-eminent among the most malicious of our enemies, in the North, are the masses of the people of Philadelphia. The abuse and vituperation of the city press is voided in sluices like filth, and are an abomination in the sight of high Heaven. The veriest lies are coined in that city, and Southern people are denounced as being guilty of the most barbarous crimes and practices. Negroes are lauded to the skies as angels of purity, and martyrs to rebels. The wilest and most horrible invective is cast on Southerners as a mass, and yet the same cowardly press asks the South to patronize it, and assist to build up its magnificent streets and enrich its merchants and business men. A few days ago, one of its leading journals taunted and jeered at Southern people for sending Southern children to Philadelphia schools, and promised, that they would be taught therein that rebellion was dishonorable, and treason odious, and their parents horrible people, for having engaged therein. There are very few people in that city who express any kindly feelings to or welcome Southern people there. Virtuous, loyal Philadelphia abominates everything from the South—but its money.

A few days ago I visited Mr. Buchanan at his house, Wheatland. His old-fashioned homestead is situated a mile west of this city, and within its quiet precincts the ex-President lives a charming life of ease, and in-influence. Notwithstanding his political antecedents, and the fact that the most bitter political enemies are found in this vicinity, he is referred to by the citizens with much pride, and spoken of in exceedingly respectful terms. An incident illustrative of this occurred late in 1861. When the flames of war were burning fiercely over the continent, and the North was sending its cohorts into camps and preparing for an immense campaign against the rebellious (?) South, it occurred that a regiment of volunteers from Ohio were sent to Lancaster to camp. The members became very indignant and threatening toward Mr. Buchanan, whom they pronounced a traitor and all manner of harsh names, and finally proposed to offer him indignities. At this period of their proceedings, the citizens, irrespective of party, became aroused, and, with the Pennsylvania volunteers who were in the city, not only threatened vengeance on the insurgents, but by reliefs guarded the premises about Wheatland so long as any danger threatened. I do not know that Mr. Buchanan was aware of this action, nor who it was that came to the rescue. He lives in a most unpretentious style, has plain manners, though he maintains a marked dignity and impressiveness in appearance. The ex-President is seventy-seven years of age. His voice does not indicate any feebleness. His eyesight is unimpaired. He reads the smallest print without glasses. He is completely retired from politics, business and cares. He refers every one who wishes a vindication of his actions and administration to his book, and in it the severest critic will find a clear, concise exposition of his executive career. He has the kindliest sympathies with the South, expresses the utmost good will towards its people, and sorrows for their distress. With regard to the purposes of parties in the future, he has no utterances to make, as they have gone so far beyond his comprehension and cast aside all former guides, that he cannot estimate whither they will drift or lead on the way to anarchy. There is one feature of the anti-Radical party in the North, which our people will take hope from and be cheerful, while awaiting the revenges of time. The Conservatives look on all Congressional legislation for the South as unwarrantable, and the unconstitutional acts to the whole thing except with regard to slavery. That they look on as irredeemably and hopelessly lost to the South; but all illegal citizenship will be revoked, and Southern Radicalism be abated as a nuisance. There is no doubt that the Conservative policy will be the rule henceforth, so soon as the Democracy gain position. The South will soon have its bright days again, and under the aegis of the Government, and its people be equal before the law with every citizen of this country. So we may hope for the bright days.

I see by your notices of new music received from Bernard & McClure, the announcement of the appearance of "Black Eyes." The music of the song was composed by Henry Bernard, and arranged by my lamented friend E. O. Eaton. Permit me to say that it is an exquisite musical composition, and does great credit to the taste and genius of Mr. Bernard. There are some charming runs in it, that are as sweet and musical as I have heard in any ballad within my knowledge. The dedication is to one of the fairest and loveliest ladies in North Mississippi, and this alone without any other merit must make it popular.

The difference in hotel bills between this country and the South, is one of the most surprising things of all I meet with up here. The finest, most popular and best hotel in this city has elegant rooms, large, airy and well furnished; its table has a large variety of well cooked material; it is as good in every respect as any house in Memphis. Its regular rates of board are four dollars and a quarter per week, this too, with provisions rating higher than they are in Memphis. Now it is done is a matter of surprise to me; yet the proprietor tells me that he makes money, and he certainly indicates it in his manner and style of living. A room rents here for twenty-five dollars a year that would rent for sixty dollars a month in Memphis, yet the expense of building is as great here as there.

COUSIN NOURMA.

Crushing Taxes.

The taxpayer of the country who has been co-operating with the party that has already brought the country to the verge of financial ruin has, in the following paragraph, food for serious reflection. It presents one of the beauties of Radical ascendency:

The circulating medium of the country at the present time is about $750,000,000; $400,000,000 in national bank notes. The amount of taxes collected last year for all purposes was about $900,000,000. Thus it will be seen that had the taxes all been payable at the same time, there would not have been money enough in the country, by $150,000,000, to pay them. Isn't that a pretty commentary upon our financial condition? Not money enough in the country to pay its taxes for a single year.
